

Loosley Row and Lacey Green Horticultural Society

---

June
2023

Finally Summer has arrived, and the North wind has left us. Now we can enjoy our gardens and worry about the rain!
Enjoy the sunshine!

---

Michael Hardy

Ginnie Brudenell

Gertrude Jekyll is busting out all over...Even though it was so chilly in May!

Mme. Alfred de Carriers

Adam Heeley

Coronation Parade

Sarah & Tim Halliday

Alison Jarvis

Lindengate Gardens visit: A garden awarded the RHS Gold Medal and Best in Show has been transported and reconstructed at Lindengate after being donated by its creators

The namesake for the Charity, the Linden tree, from which you can steep the flowers to make a pleasant herbal tea, and another donation to the gardens in the foreground - a hand sculpted out of tree branches

A quick sit down in Lindengate's yurt which is available for hire

Alison Shreeve

Loosley Row looking lovely. Buttercup fields, Orchids, variegated Honesty which self-seeds every year and Ajuga.

Alison Shreeve

The famous sweet peas....and the Greenhouse filling up for the plant sale

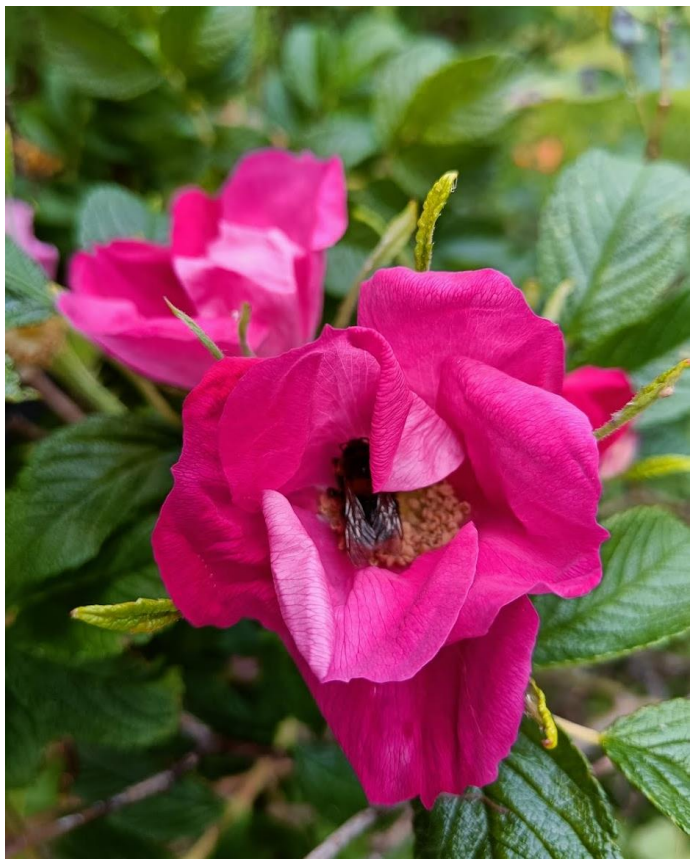

Wonderful home grown purple sprouting broccoli and asparagus

Caroline Bowen

We are trying to bring wildlife into Box Cottage. This has also meant the “Box caterpillar” has also joined us

The lively and curious young heffers in the field by Pink Road

Caroline Bowen

New shade bed complete, along with towering alliums scattered around the garden

Michael Hardy

Spring garden waddling into action

Alison Shreeve

Inspiration from further afield...Wild flowers from the island of Lismore on the West Coast of Scotland

Remember please keep sending in your photos they can be anything horticultural or wildlife based through to the environment and life in the Chilterns horticultural.society@btconnect.com